THE CYNIC'S RULES OF CONDUCT

---

GO to the Aunt, thou sluggard, and offer her ten off on your legacy for spot cash.

THE difference between a bad break and a faux pas indicates the kind of society you are in.

THE CYNIC'S

---

WHEN alone in Paris
behave as if all the world were your mother-in-law.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

REMEMBER, too, that perhaps you are not the sort of husband that Father used to make.

YOU may refer to her cheeks as roses, but the man who sends her American beauties will leave you at the post.

THE CYNIC'S

---

A woman should dress to make men covetous and women envious.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

EVEN Cupid crosses his fingers at what he hears by moonlight.

AFTER marriage you may speak of her temper; but during courtship you had better refer to it as temperament.

THE CYNIC'S

---

WHEN dinners entice thee consent thou not.

---

THE position of the hostess should be at the doorway of the drawing-room to receive her guests. The position of her husband should be at his office desk making the money to pay for the blow-out.

IT is safer to do business with jailbirds than with relatives.

THE CYNIC'S

---

DISCUSS family scandals before the servants. We should always be kind to the lower classes.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

WHEN children paw a visitor's gown with their candied fingers the proper observation for the mother to make is: "My children are so affectionate."

REPRIMAND your servants before your guests. It shows your authority.

THE CYNIC'S

---

THE chief duty of the best man is to prevent the groom from escaping before the ceremony.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IN marching up the aisle to the altar the bride carries either a bunch of flowers or a prayer book. Her father carries a bunch of money or a cheque book.

ON returning from the altar be careful not to step on the bride's train. There's trouble enough ahead without that.

THE CYNIC'S

DON'T blow your own horn when you can get some one else to blow it for you.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

KEEP your servants in good humor, if you can—but keep your servants.

YOUR conduct in an elevator should be governed by circumstances. Should the lady's husband remove his hat keep yours on. Should he fail to remove it, take your hat off. This will embarrass him.

THE CYNIC'S

---

NEVER put in the collection box less than ten per cent. of the amount you tip your waiter at luncheon.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

AT afternoon funerals wear a frock coat and top hat. Should the funeral be your own, the hat may be dispensed with.

IT is never in good taste to indulge in personal pleasantries, such as referring to a lady's artificial teeth as her collection of porcelains.

THE CYNIC'S

---

BEWARE of the man who never buys a gold brick. The chances are that he sells them.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

INDORSE checks about two inches from the end. Don't indorse notes at all.

NO house should be without its guest-chamber. Besides giving one's home an air of hospitality, it makes an admirable store-room for dilapidated furniture and unspeakable pictures.

THE CYNIC'S

---

THERE is only one worse break than asking a woman her age: it is looking incredulous when she tells it.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IT is not good form to rehearse your domestic difficulties in public, but it is mighty interesting to your auditors.

NEVER leave a guest alone for a moment. Force your entertainment upon him even if you have to use chloroform.

THE CYNIC'S

---

IF you would have a serene old age never woo a girl who keeps a diary.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

WHEN you are inclined to be haughty, remember that a cook in the kitchen is worth two in the employment office.

A chef is a cook who gets a salary instead of wages.

THE CYNIC'S

---

IT is better form for a bride to take her wedding journey with the groom than with the coachman.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

UNDER no circumstances associate with persons who wear detachable cuffs. Such men are usually trying to get rich at the expense of the washerwoman.

WHEN crossing the Atlantic no gentleman will rock the boat.

THE CYNIC'S

---

TAKE care of the luxuries and the necessities will take care of themselves.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

THOSE who live in glass houses should be polite to reporters.

WHEN in a hurry to get to the poor house, take the road that leads through the bucket shop and passes the race track.

THE CYNIC'S

CONDENSED milk should be used in a small flat.

---

TELL your rich relations how fast you are making money—your poor ones, how fast you are losing it.

IN taking soup try not to give others the impression that the plumbing is out of order.

THE CYNIC'S

---

WHEN giving a studio tea, remember that there should be soft lights and hard drinks.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

ESCHEW the race-track and the roulette table. Faro is a squarer game than either.

BEWARE of indiscriminate charity. You will never get your name in the paper by giving a tramp the price of a meal.

THE CYNIC'S

---

BEFORE marriage the fashionable tint for eye-glasses is rose; after marriage smoked glasses should be worn.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IF you would make a lifelong friend of a man who lives in a hall bedroom, accuse him of leading a double life.

NO sportsman will shoot craps during the closed season.

THE CYNIC'S

---

COMPLIMENTS paid a woman behind her back go farthest and are remembered longest.

---

Avoid having business relations with a man whose I. O. U. is not as good as his note; but take his note by preference.

ENCOURAGE your husband to go to his club. Otherwise, you will miss a lot of gossip that you can use in your business.

THE CYNIC'S

---

THE mother-in-law joke was invented by a bachelor. To the married man the mother-in-law is no joke.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IT is not good form for a young girl to go to the theatre with a gentleman, unaccompanied by a chaperone. On the other hand, it is not good fun for her to go to the theatre with a chaperone, unaccompanied by a gentleman.

THE CYNIC'S

---

NO gentleman will strut about his club with his hat on. There is no rule, however, against his having a jag on.

---

WHEN you step on a lady's toes make some off-hand remark about her feet being too small to be seen. This is older than the cave dwellers; but it still works.

WHEN organizing a friendly poker party, don't invite friends.

THE CYNIC'S

---

SETTLE an allowance on your wife and you'll always know where to borrow money.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

WHEN choosing a wife shut your eyes; it's a sporting chance, because after all your wife is choosing you.

THE man who buys a gold brick hates to feel lonesome.

THE CYNIC'S

---

THE race is not always to the swift, though the smart set thinks it is.

---

WHEN attending an afternoon tea or musicale do not forget to leave a card. The social standing of your hostess determines whether it shall be a face card or a twospot.

BESIDES leaving a card, leave all the small articles of value that you may find lying about in the dressing room.

THE CYNIC'S

---

IT is not necessary to throw rice at a departing bride and groom. The cab is already full of mush.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IN proposing to a girl always refer to your own unworthiness. She won't believe it at the time nor will you a few years later.

SWEET are the uses of adversity to the gentlemen who conduct loan offices.

---

WHEN your face is too full for utterance speak to her only with your eyes.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

SHOW kindness to your creditors, but not unremitting kindness.

SUSPECT the man who wants only a small loan; a little touch is a dangerous thing.

THE CYNIC'S

---

DON'T marry for money;
but never let money stand between a girl and her happiness.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

“CONSERVATIVE dressers,” as the tailors call them,
have discarded the night-cap
except for internal use.

WHEN in Rome do the Romans.

THE CYNIC'S

---

DON'T buy for your daughter a Count that is likely to turn out a discount.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

EAT, drink and be merry, for to-morrow you may be married.

IT is not good form to congratulate a girl friend upon her engagement. Simply remark,
“So you landed him at last.”

THE CYNIC'S

---

PAY no obvious compliments. A beautiful woman has her mirror.

RULES OF CONDUCT

---

IF you can afford the right sort of lawyer you won't need any Rules of Conduct.
